GREAT MEETING AT

Lamb and Wallace Appear Before Divided Crowd.

CHEERS AND HISSES

These Greet Both Candidates as They Speak.

CHAIRMAN ELLYSON PRESIDES

He Urges Quiet, and Pours Oil on the Troubled Waters-Speeches Rather Conservative, but Fiery Enough to Kick Up Considerable Racket-Wild Outbursts of Applause.

One of the greatest political meetings held in Richmond in many years was that which marked the real closing of the hot joint canvage for Congress in the Third District between Messrs. Lamb and Wallace at the Academy of Music last

It the result of the primary to-morrow is to rest upon the judgment of those present as to who had the crowd, which filled every available space from the ground floor to the very top of the building, boxes included, the battle is an ungertain one, for it is beyond mortal ken to divine where the majority rested, if, indeed, there was any.

Hon, J. Taylor Ellyson presided, and during the delivery of the speeches of both candidates the popular chairman had to appeal earnestly to the crowd to refrain from hissing and to listen to what the respective candidates had to say.

The speeches of both Captain Lamb and Mr. Wallace were in good taste and were well delivered, and while they went gentafter one another, there was nothing in them to warrant the boisterous demon-strations which came from both sides, evidently designed to prevent the other evidently designed to prevent the other candidate from having a fair hearing. However, the allotted time was consumed under many difficulties, and all hands seemed satisfied at the close. Mr. Wallace opened up in forty minutes and Captain Lamb replied in fifty minutes, Mr. Wallace closed in ten minutes, and then the meeting ended amid the greatest confusion, cries of "Lamb" and "Wallace" being heard all over the densely packed hall. This ended the camdensely packed hall. This ended the cam-paign, so far as joint debates are con-erned, and to-day both the candidates will keep the path hot looking for votes. of the prominent Democrats or the stage last night were Messrs. CALLED TO ORDER.

8:15 o'clock the speakers entered, nd there was the wildest enthusiasm. Hon. James Lewis Anderson called the neeting to order, and Hon. J. Taylor was announced as permanent chairman. The popular State Chairman was wildly cheered as he came forward, and as he proceeded the enthusiasm eas often renewed with great vigor. In calling the vast assemblage to order, request of the committee having in charge the preparations for this meeting to preside over its deliberations to-night, I appreciate the compilment, and shall endeavor to discharge the duties of the office to the very best of my ability.

We are to-day facing new conditions in Virginia. The constitutional provision in reference to suffrage was designed to have, and will have, the effect of the practical elimination of the negro from politics. I look forward with confident anticipation to the re-election of a solid Democratic delegation to Congress from Virginia at the November election, but I base my confidence upon the expectation that our voters will be registered, because without careful attention to that we may be disappointed in some of the districts.

We are asembled here to-night under the auspices of a joint committee con-sisting of the friends of the Hon. John Lamb and the Hon. Jefferson Wallace, who are competing with each other for the honor to represent the Third Congres-sional District in the House of Repre-sentatives at Washington. It is a prize worthy of any man's ambition, and we are fortunate in having to choose between two such worthy candidates as will ad-dress us to-night. It has been the occasion of frequent and sincere gratification to me to note how enthusiastically and devotedly and intel-ligently our young men have been taking an interest in the affairs of the party in recent years. It is the most hopeful sign of the party's continued growth and prosperity, for so long as we can have a hold upon the esteem of the young we can be confident that our growth will be steady and our triumph certain. It should not be surprising, therefore, that from the ranks of the young Democracy of this district we should have a candidate who is ambitious to represent us in the National Countries. tional Congress.

By virtue of the office to which I have been chosen to-night, it is my privilege to present that young gentleman. You have known him as one of the most unhave known him as one of the most un-thing and loyal party workers in our Capital City, who has, with earnest de-votion and unceasing activity, sought to promote Democratic rule in the Old Do-reinion, and who has esteemed no sacrifice too great in order to insure that end.

I have, therefore, great pleasure in presenting to you, as the first speaker of the evening, the Hon. Jefferson Wallace, who will now address you.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 9 .- Governor William A. Stone, of Pennsylvania, who this city and made an effort during the day to see what could be done towards settling the anthracite coal strike, returned to Harrisburg Pa., tonight without apparently having been able to accomplish a settlement.

There were rumors amout that the Governor's visit had results, but George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan and Company, denied to-night that there was any change in the situation. Word to the same effect was received by long dis-tance telephone from President Trusdale, tance telephone from President Trusdaie, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Raifroad, who is out of town.

Governor Stone was accompanied to the city by Attorney-General Ekin, of Pennsylvania, and Senator Flynn, of Pittsburg. The three held a conference of several hours' duraffor with P. A. B. Widener, of Philadelphia, in the offices of the United States Steel Corporation.

After the conference had lasted an nour, Mr. Widener called to see J. P. Morgan at the latter's office and asked Morgan at the latter's office and asked him to use his influence to end the strike. Ten minutes later he returned to his fellow conferces and told them that Mr. Morgan had declined to in-

Mr. Widener is very anxious been the strike seitled and they took the matter up with Mr. Morgan. We are doing what we can."

Governor Stone was asked what pro gress toward a settlement had been made during the conference and whether any direct communication had been had from Mr. Morgan. To these questions he an-swered that he had nothing to say becond what was contained in his statement, and that the other parties to the conference had also been pledged to si-

Mr. Fowler emphatically declared that there was no change in the attitude of the presidents, and that nothing could end the strike but unconditional surrender of the striking anthracite miners.

Later in the day, when Governor Stone's statement was submitted to President Fowler, he sent out word through his secretary that he had no comment to make on the statement and did not even care to learn of its contents. President Baer went back to Philadelphia.

TAKE THEIR LIVES BECAUSE OF LOVE

Double Suicide at Dover, N. C., Ascribed to Disappointment and Sympathy.

KINSTON, N. C., Sept. 9.-Messrs. Joe Thigpen and Otis Griffin committed suicide last night at Dover, twelve miles from here, by drinking scheidaum schnapps, with possibly some other drug in it. The cause, though not ascribed by the victims themselves, is said to have been disappointment in love affairs. It is said that Mr. Griffin was betrothed to a young lady who married another young man recently in Kinston, and since that time he has been very despondent, and was heard to remark on learning of the marriage of his flance, "My life isn't worth two cents now." Mr. Thigpen was very intimate with

Mr. Griffin, and it is supposed that, having a griceance against fate himself, he was easily induced to join the conspiracy. Both men died last night, Mr. Thispen about ten o'clock, and Mr. Griffin about two thirty this morning. Dr. C. L. Prid-gen, of this place, was sent for, but did not arrive on the scene until about the time Mr. Griffin expired. Both men were conscious the greater part of the time, but expressed no desire to recover, except that Mr. Griffin, after hearing of the death of Mr. Thigpen, asked the doctor to help him all he could. Neither would ascribe any reason for their rash act.

Both Mr. Griffin and Mr. Thispen were highly respected young business men of Dover, and enjoyed the respect and confidence of the entire community.

Mr. Griffin was a member of the firm of Hawkins & Griffin, and Mr. Thigpen was in charge of Mr. W. M. Tyndall's store at that place.

war manoeuvres began to-day by batteries galloping into action through wheat fields and beet patches, and by long lines of riflemen advancing along a twelve-mile front. Sausage shaped war balloons swung high in the air, and there were many other signs of warlike activity. The artillery, of which the invading reds and the defending blues have each about 100 pieces, came into action and there were sounds of irregular firing along the far extended fronts.

To-day was spent by the contending armies in playing for positions. It was an artilery duel with occasional brushes between the cavalry. The infantry never got into action. The German army of defense captured one gun from the Russians, but this was immediately re-taken by the invaders. A cavalry detachment of the blues fell into the hands of the invaders, who at the end of the day, had gained the superior position and were ready to push forward. Emporer William as umpire of the manoeuvres, visited both sides. The foreign guests were attached to the reds, or the invading Russians, and when Emporer William was on that side he was usually surrounded by a group of foreign officers in rich uniforms.

The American visitors, Generals Corbin. Young and Wood, wore the new drab fatigue uniforms of the United States army, which, among so many brilliant and highly colored foreign uniforms, were quite distinctive. The Emporer looked the American officers over losely and told General Corbin he thought their uniforms "sensible and in good taste." His Majesty took General Young with him on a trip inside the lines of the blues, and his bearing towards the Americans in every way was most
